Your goal is to get the ball through the rotating colored blocks placed in the tower, avoiding crashing into black. To play Drop Stack Ball - Fall Helix Blast Crash 3D, all you have to do is gently press your finger on the battle. The ball will drop and pick up speed. If you manage to keep the combo for a while, the ball will turn into a fireball able to pass through all the blocks. Your goal is to reach the base of each tower in over 300 levels available, so you won't run out anytime soon! It is ideal for killing time while waiting for a bus. Helix Stack Ball is a super fun and addictive one-touch game. Colorful and customizable world In addition to a satisfactory experience, this game offers a very colorful environment and very simple gameplay. In addition, as you play, you can unlock new animal-shaped balls such as squirrels, chicks, hedgehicles and even a unicorn. About it... keep in mind that it is one thing to smash a ball in front of colored blocks leaving stains of paint, and another very different is to break down small pixelated animals with huge, super-expressive eyes... Maybe this game is not for everyone. okay! I love this app! I'm almost at 70. It's very addictive. But, number 1, the vibration that makes you bounce. Okay, I just don't like it. This caused me to drop the phone about 1-5 times. It's also annoying. Number 2, ADS. Like, I've read a lot of reviews and most of them have something about ads, but I'm going to say that too. ADS gets annoying. I know you can pay money to remove them, but rarely do parents of children give them money to buy something. You have to earn it. So do I. Like, doing chores or getting good grades are just a few ways to earn money. But the parents of some children do not give them for nothing. And I'm sure a few kids whose parents are like that play this game so they can't get the ads removed, and that's it annoying to them, too. Unless they like to watch ads. I kinda do, but it gets annoying after a while. The most addictive stack drop game with optimized performance for all your devices!
